Subject: Gray TV clean water story

Robert,
Thanks for speaking with me a few moments ago.

As I mentioned, we're looking to do a story related to the Animas River contamination. It would be great to get some information on what the EPA is doing to protect US waterways from contamination to prevent what happened in Colorado from happening again. Also looking to see what the consequences would be for a company or organization that creates a similar contamination.

We're actually hoping to get this story out tomorrow. I'm sure things are busy, but if there's any chance for an on-camera interview or even a quick phone interview we would really appreciate it.

Thank you!
Alex
